Tourist Debentures Being Sold in U.S.

Being Sold in U.S.

TEL AVIV, Wednesday.—
The new Tourist Industry Development Corp. Ltd. today began sales in the U.S. of $2.5m. worth of debentures. Mr. Theodore Kollek, Chairman of the Board of Directors, announced to the press. The debentures, to be sold only in the U.S., will bear interest at seven per cent.

The setting up of the corporation, long awaited by Israel's tourist industry, was decided upon by the Government last August.

It will provide easy, long-term loans to hotels, pestanrants, souvenir shops and beach establishments for further development. It is also planned to enceurage future investments in the tourist industry.

Loans will be given to approved projects only, and will be provided on a business basis. Only enterprises that can give suitable guarantees may hope to benefit, Mr. Kollek said.

The Government has acquired I.3m. worth of shares, for which it will hand over to the new corporation all rights for the loans it issued to hotels in the past four years.

Holders will have the choice after two years to change their debentures to shares of a specific enterprise, that is, to hecome a direct whare.

after two years to change their debentures to shares of a specific enterprise, that is to become a direct shareholder.

IL1.5m. Advance Payment The Finance Ministry has provided the corporation with a IL1.5m. advanced payment to enable it to provide essential loans to establishments that need improvements for the 10th Anniversary tourist season, and this sum has in the past three months been loaned to 77 enterprises.

The corporation will be run by 15 members comprising 10 Israelis and five American. The American members of the Board of Directors are Messra. Lawrence Laskey of Boston, Jacob Arvey of Chicago, Louis Boyar of Louis Boyar of Louis Gone and Rudolf Somnenborn of New York. Distribution of loans will be decided on in every case by the Board of Directors, according to Mr. Amos Iron, the Managing Director.

for no other reason, Rabbi Kahana said.

In reply, the Minister of Interior, Mr. Israel Bar-Yehuda, said that the freedom of the religious person to observe that which he feels himself obliged to observe ends at the point where he wishes to force his way of life on the next man.

Rabbi Kahana had presented the question in a much quieter manner than had been done in the Jerusalem Municipal Council, Mr. Bar-Yehuda noted. There, Aguda speakers had threatned that blood would be split if the plans for the pool went ahead. Stones had been thrown and blood had indeed been split—all in the holy city of Jerusalem.

Those who agreed with Natorei Karta as to ends but differed with them as to means had the duty of calling Natorei Karta to task, Mr. Bar-Yehuda said.

The licence for the pool had been requested in accordance with the laws of the State, the licence had been granted, and there was nothing more to discuss, the Minister concluded.

Lack of Settlement Funds Criticized

As for the Javrish Agency, it was doing less than it might, and it was in fact negselecting new settlements. Why was the State standing aside?

Replying to Mr. Dayan, Mr. Arych Bahir (Mapal) said that the State could not afford to release the Zionist movement and the Javrish people from the task of looking after the needs of new settlements. The Minister of Agriculture was operating within the agency, and complaints on the subject should be addressed to the Zionist General Council.

But, Mr. Bahir said, out of a total budget of IL200m, it was inconceivable that the Agency and complaints on the subject should be addressed to the Zionist General Council.

Police report that some 300 to 500 men and children regularly sneak into the Stadium whenever there is a floodlit night game. For daylight matches, when detection is easier, their number is somewhat smaller.

The gatecrashers, who include many soldiers have worked out various methods of evading the ushers. These include the posting of two decoys on the wall. They draw the ushers' attention, leaving the coast clear for other amateur parachutists to make the jump elsewhere along the wall.

The wall was put up by the Municipality at a cost of more than IL50,000. As the four meter jump does not seem to deter the gate-crashers it is intended to string strands of barbed wire on top as an additional deterrent. Another suggestion is to plant a prick-ly post (sabra) hedge inside the wall in the hope that such a hazardous landing ground may deter the jumpers.

ticularly in Soviet Russia, the press in general has been very kind, Clippings collected by the Tenth Anniversary Committee here show that a number of distinguished journalists, who were in the past known for their indifference to Israel or even an anti-Zionist b i a s, have written with enthusiasm of their visit to this country.

srael is part and parcel of Middle East where the European ideas of justice and democracy are still understood as they are un-derstood in London, Paris and Rome.

But there is another rea-son for the favourable press we have been receiv-ing and it is a very simple and practical one. The Tenth Anniversary Committee invited as many journalists from abroad as its resources permitted. Many of them, including some of the most widely read in their countries, availed themselves of the invita-world opinion here to see for itself.

It would be absurd to assume that the political acene can be changed by merely persuading foreigners to come and see for themselves. Nor are all visitors enthusiastic Moreover, the enemies of Israel do not remain inactive. In France, where the pro-Israel policy is obviously backed by public opinion, one can find publications nowadays which are openly or guardedly anti-Israel. One such booklet, by an author who knows his subject but has no hesitation about manufacturing conclusions, reached this country last week. Mr. Bernard Laforesse quotes former High Commissioner High Commissioner Harold MacMichael as saying: "Israel is an American creation" and it refers to Mollet's policy as "a wedge driven into Franco. Am er ic an a friendabin." There is little we can do against those who are determined to distort facts. All that is within our powers is to help those who have an open mind.

Demoralization in Hungary

The article complains that political erimes are now geverely punished, while economic offences — "which cause political and economic damage at the same time" — go largely unnoticed. Even when law enforcement agencies detect a great crime, it is either not properly prosecuted by the courts, or the offender pays a nominal fine, bribes the authority concerned, and soon reappears at his old post. Only when the major criminals receive the severe punishment they deserve, the article concludes, will the "moral depravity" underlying the whole crime wave be cured.

This youth neither respects nor identifies itself with Islanda of all men, by political legislation, as if it were a type of "highway code," a movement whose sensibility and critical faculties are so stunted that it apparently attributes equal moral value to the word of Micah (Chapter 6, Verse 8) and the custom of not lighting a cigarette on Shabbat.

The persistence of this Orthodox attitude, which makes vain the "freedom of conscience" granted by the State to every individual citizen, will undoubtedly allenate "SCIENTIST'S DENIAL processing the content of the city alone. I should imagine that Shanta herself comes nearest to this ideal, for though the eroticism of the lyrics which form the theme of Bharufa hatpa finds full expression in her dancing, there is a very impersonal quality in her mimed emotion. She seems to master every shade of seduction, yet her obbinage, her expressive gestures, grow, I should say, out of her imagination and are certainly not directed towards grow, I should say, out of her imagination and are certainly not directed towards any fiesh and blood individual in the audience; indeed, of the audience she seems sublimely unconscious. Shamta's erotic temperament is so strong that as an expressionist "free" dancer (if one can imagine such a thing in India) the impact of her presence might have been devastating. But her love and reverence for tradition are at least as strong as her temperament, and are indeed two of the most remarkable characteristics of this immensely spontaneous creature,
